PN?

Polynucleotide(PN) is a biologically active substance composed of long-chain DNA molecules extracted from salmon, renowned for its exceptional regenerative properties.

By enhancing cell proliferation and promoting tissue healing, PN not only accelerates the recovery process but also improves overall skin elasticity and hydration.

Skin Tone, Tightening, Fine Lines, Wrinkles,
Dark Circles & Pores, Scar Treatment

Stimulating Collagen Production

By increasing collagen synthesis, PN helps restore the skin's ability to bounce back and resist sagging.

Supports Elastin Formation

This dual action on collagen and elastin gives the skin a firmer, more lifted appearance over time.

Repairing Extracellular Matrix

PN improves the skin's ability to retain its shape and firmness after stretching or deformation.

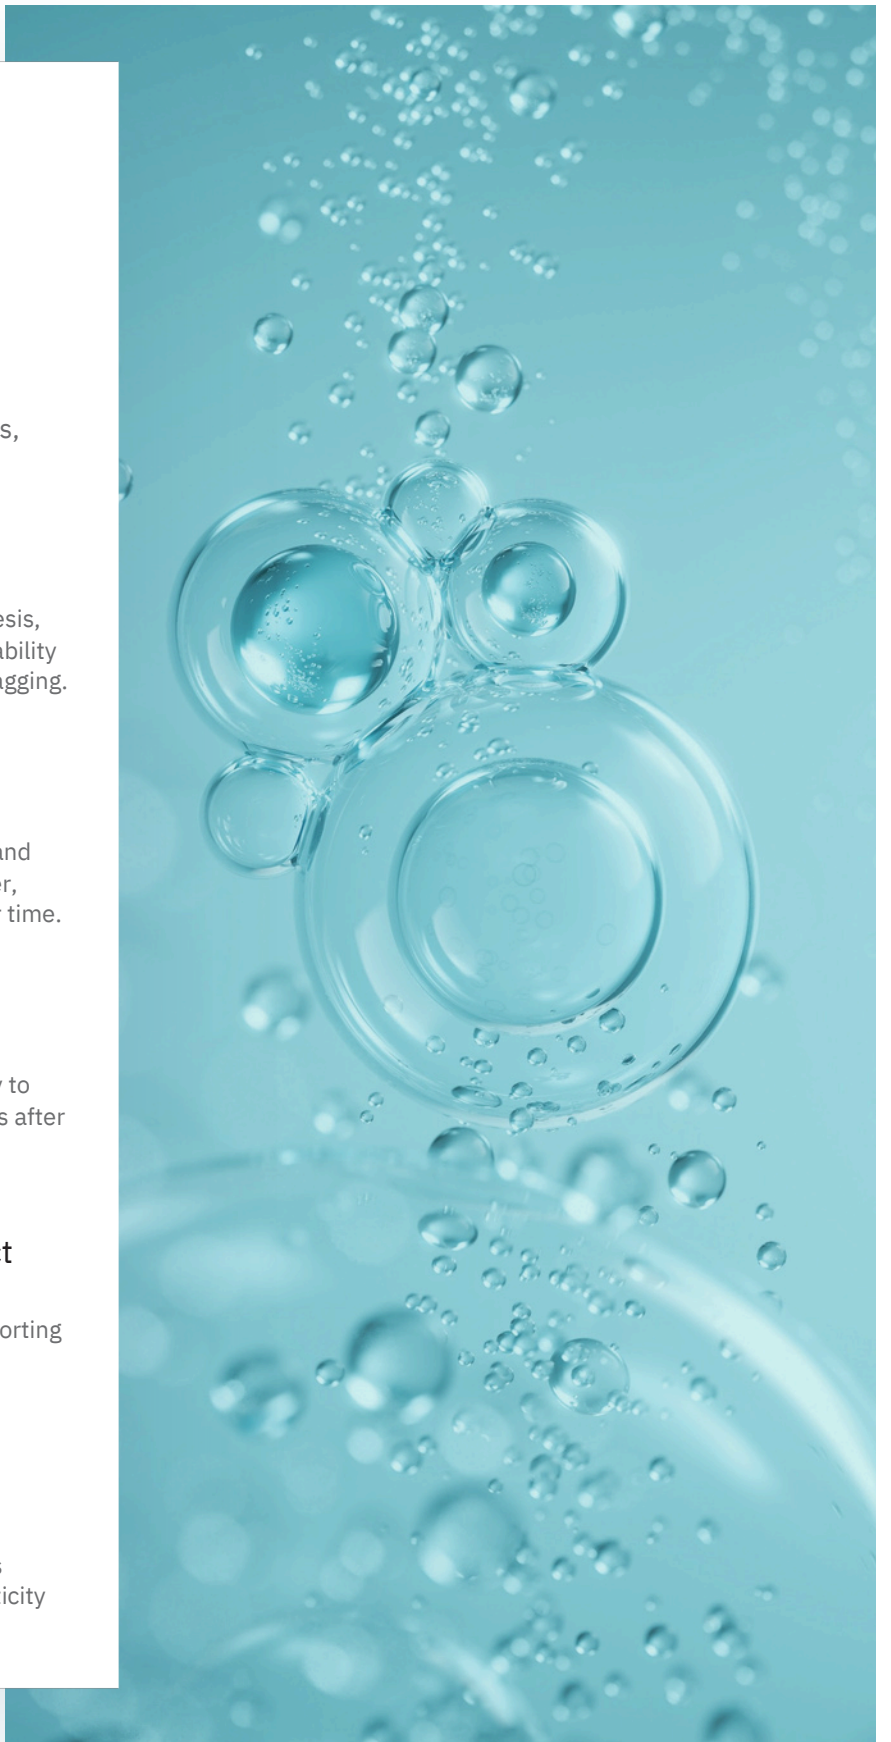

Deep Hydration Effect

Hydration prevents collagen degradation, indirectly supporting elastic skin.

Reduces Oxidative Stress

By preventing this damage, PN helps preserve the skin's structural integrity and elasticity over time.
